Kids' Night is over again. This is a night that is eagerly looked forward to by the children of Newmarket because it is their own night when a complete program is lined up for them at the arena.
This night is held at the arena in memory of Tom Kirk, a former policeman who was deeply interested in Newmarket children.

At 7 p.m. the crowd began to pour in, consisting of children, small and large, girls and boys, from the first grade to the eighth. Some young ladies of the eighth, some parents came along and for awhile
everything was hustle and bustle
while the spectators found seats.

The night was opened by a fast,
close-checking hockey game between the two best teams of the Newmarket primary schools. Those two teams stood at the top of a fourteen league after a 16-game schedule. Rickland, in Gliders, turned in a very brilliant game, although Hilaby, on the losing Mosquitoes side, did not do too badly. The game had its serious and amusing incidents. The amusing part came from the scraps and mishaps on the ice and the serious ness came from a rap on the shins or a hard fall. At the end of the game the score stood 9-5 for the Gliders, who, for their hard work,

YOUNG VETERAN RETURNS HOME

Home after hospitalization
from wounds received in France, Rfmn. Murray Love, 20, said that one of the first things he wanted to do was to thank the Newmarket Veterans and others who sent him cigarettes. "I sure appreciated them," he said.

Rfmn. Love arrived on a hospital ship that docked in Halifax
last week. He arrived in Toronto last Thursday.

Enlisting in April of 1943, he trained in Brampton and at Camp Borden with the armored forces, going overseas as an infantryman in March, 1944. He landed in France on the night of D-day and took part in the advance towards Caen. It was at Caen, just 42 days after he landed in France, that he was wounded.

He was hospitalized in 23rd
Canadian General hospital prior to coming home.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. David
Love, he has two brothers, LAC
Bruce Love, and Cfn. Malcolm
Love, in England.

Hiram A. Connell Is Buried At Queensville

Hiram A. Connell, Thornhill, died suddenly at his home on Feb. 10.

Born in North Gwillimbury in 1869, Mr. Connell was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Connell. He married Eliza Winch, who predeceased him in 1941.

Mr. Connell was a farmer. A member of the United Church, he served as an elder of the church for a number of years.
Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. N. L. Morton (Vera), and several grandchildren. Two daughters predeceased him.

Rev. J. S. Duncan, D.D., conducted a funeral service at Queensville cemetery where interment was made on Feb. 13.

Business, Trade Training Said Real Need For Vets

"We must not forget that many of the boys who enlisted have had neither business nor trade experience. They must start from scratch and it won't be easy for them. Anything that can help them make that start easier will be of utmost importance to returned men."

These are the words of Capt.
Rev. T. W. F. G. Andrews,
education counsellor at Christie Street hospital, who spoke to the Lions club Monday night. It was public school night and the club
had as its guests the public school board, separate school board, and public school teachers and principals.

Capt. Andrews described his work among the men and women
at Christie Street hospital. "I am not a rehabilitation counsellor," he said. "That is taken care of by a rehabilitation section. I am an education counsellor. It is my job to go among the boys and show them what educational benefits they may have through correspondence courses.

"We offer all grades of academic courses, from public school grades to university grades. The returned man can take a course in elementary arithmetic or engineering, business practice or philosophy. Some courses cost them only a small part of the cost to a civilian.
Others are provided through the Canadian Legion."

Capt. Andrews cautioned his audience that when they met a casualty, to speak of what that casualty had before him and not what had happened in the past.
"These boys don't want sympathy," he said. "They want understanding consideration, and they have earned a right to it."

He pointed out that while some of those returning were only youths in years, they had the experience and accepted responsibilities far beyond their years. "They went away as boys but they have come back as men despite their age."

BESIEGED UNIT REPULSES FOE FROM CELLAR

Capt. W. Wesley Niles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Niles, Newmarket, was one of the 20 men
from an Ontario regiment battalion headquarters who were cut off from their comrades after a German counter-attack inside Germany. The surrounded men holed up in the cellar of a farmhouse which had served as their headquarters.

All night long the Germans slashed at the house until it was reduced to a heap of dust and bricks on the top of the cellar in which the Canadians were making a desperate and successful stand. The Canadians stuffed mattresses in the two windows of the cellar. Had the Germans known the windows were there they could have thrown in hand grenades, one participant said.

They threw them, instead, on the top of the cellar and no harm
came to the men.

Twice during the early hours of the morning the Germans attacked and twice the Canadians drove off the attack. Then a Tiger tank, which had been trying to blast out the Canadians, charged through the burned out and shattered house. Finally the Germans threw in smoke bombs to drive the Canadians out. The Canadians stayed in the cellar.
The Nazis evidently thought the men were dead and withdrew.
Around eight o'clock in the morning an officer managed to sneak out of the house and direct reinforcements to the place.

Pensioner Has Narrow Escape From Burning

An 80-year-old pensioner, Albert Lee, was arrested at Bal-win by Constable William Hill of Sutton on Monday night, on a charge of vagrancy.

Mr. Lee, according to Constable Hill, had been living in a shack south of Baldwin until it burned down recently and then moved into an empty house
without the owner's consent.

The second house burned down Monday night and Mr. Lee escaped with only his trousers
and shirt. The owner, Mr.
Thorpe, who is thought to be working in St. Catharines, has not been notified as police have been unable to contact him.

DRIVE OPENED BY RED CROSS

The following statement was issued by the financial committee for the Red Cross campaign which begins March 5 and continues to March 31:

National campaign: March 5 -

March 31.

National objective: $10,000,000.

Newmarket and district objectives: $7,500.

The yearly drive for funds to carry on the work of the Red Cross services opens March 5. A general canvass will be made by volunteer workers who in the past have been graciously received by Newmarket citizens.

The demands on all Red Cross services are very pressing. Our soldiers are really into the battle

now and must have every attention

the Red Cross can provide them.

The need is urgent and must be provided and we know the citizens of Newmarket will again do their part nobly in supporting the financial requirements of the Red Cross

Society.

In the past, it has been urged that wage earners donate one day's pay. Business and professional men have in the past been generous with their subscriptions and yet do any of us properly weigh the value of the Red Cross. Many subscriptions are for one dollar

where it is believed much more could be subscribed if more consideration was given the cause. Remember there is only one appeal in a year.

An analysis of the last campaign

shows:

One hundred and thirty-two subscriptions under $1; 401 at $1 or approximately two cents per week;

330 at $2 or four to six cents per week; 192 at $5 or ten cents per week; seven at $7 or 14 cents per week; 80 at $10 or 20 cents per

week; 15 at $15 or 30 cents per

week; nine at $20 or 40 cents per

week; 21 at $25 or 50 cents per

week; five at $30 to $35; one at $10;

seven at $50; nine at $100.

A careful study of these figures will reveal that a large percentage

are supporting this very important service at a cost under ten cents per week. Can we conscientiously say this is the kind of support we should be giving our men and women who are in the services giving their lives if necessary that Canada should be free from the horrors of war?

In giving these figures it is not our intention to be critical, but rather to impress the fact that the average contribution when spread over a year means no financial sacrifice—let us all plan this year

to double previous subscriptions.

One case last year of interest was the subscription of a widow in none too comfortable circumstances who pledged $1 a month and went to earn this amount by selling subscriptions for magazines, a real sacrifice, but one who realized

what the Red Cross meant to our men and women in uniform.

Let every wage earner, man or woman, plan to support the drive.

Ice Follies Plays To Capacity Houses In Memorial Arena

Newmarket Ice Follies, sponsored by the Newmarket branch of the Women's Institute, played to full houses both Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Originally scheduled for Monday and Tuesday nights,
the follies were moved ahead one night because of poor weather. Proceeds of the Follies will be used by the Women's Institute for their hospital donation and a supervised rest room.

Entitled Community Project, and with a cast of 176, the Follies used local talent to produce a three-hour show ranging in variety from two skating horses to a square dance on ice. There was no age limit for the participants. Children in the lower grades of the primary schools shared the spotlights with their parents.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales congratulated the Women's Institute for their work in making the Ice Follies possible. Mrs. Max Smith, president of the Newmarket branch of the Institute, added her congratulations to the cast and Les Beazer, arena manager, to those of Mayor Dales.

Lucky draws were held just after intermission on each night. Winners Tuesday night were: Ruth Edwards, Cullie Way, Earl Moore,
Violet Hopkinson, A. Hosworth,
Fred Lundy, Pte. A. Edward, Clara
Proctor, Mrs. Bruce Foote, Donald
Brice, Mrs. Norman Thompson, Aurora.

Winners Wednesday night were:
Mr. Hecker, Herman Bell, Evelyn
Beach, Mabel Adams, Mrs. Cephus
Andrews, Wally Mole, Lloyd Lennon,
Ila Haines, Lois Cryderman, Orval
Hiley.

To see the decorations of the Newmarket Memorial arena was itself worth the price of admission.
In the centre of the ice was lettered
in red the words Community Project. On either side were the crests of the Lions club and the Women's Institute. At the far end was a Red Cross and at the west end, the crest of the Town of Newmarket.
A stage with a public address system was set up on ice at the west end. From the stage, the master of ceremonies, Les Beazer, announced the numbers.

The first number was School Days, a glimpse into the future
when schools will be conducted on ice as well as in the class room. The cast for this number was drawn from the primary schools. Modes in Skating by Eleanor Hughson and Norene Walker followed. It was one of the most popular numbers.

Invitation To Dance, with L-Cpl.
McMaster and Shirley Andrews,
showed what can be done on skates, while Hopes demonstrated that the animals can skate as well as humans.

The arena was darkened for Figures In Miniature, a number in which an illuminated puppet directed by Victor Higginson, held the stage. Harry Caradonna and company presented a barrel-jumping feature and the high school skating championships were run. A Pee Wee hockey game under the direction of Vice-Principal Fred L.
Hall finished the first half of the follies.

Drum Majorettes opened the second half of the program, followed by a Men's Ballet, with the accent on precision. No. 23 presented Precision, a drill on skates, and the Gay Nineties square dance in costumes, rounded out the last half of the program.

Included at the last moment was a number entitled Spring, which was presented by members of the figure skating class. The master of ceremonies explained that the cast of this number had worked hard to reach perfection and that they were deserving of all credit.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to the Newmarket branch of the Women's Institute, to Les. Beazer, manager of the Newmarket Memorial Arena, and to the cast and helpers, on a good job, well done. The Ice Follies have set an enviable precedent for the years to come.

More than the pleasure afforded the audience and cast, more than the material benefit of the funds for the hospital donation and rest room, the Ice Follies had this significance: The show demonstrated the ability of local talent and the success that can be had in community projects.

The people of Newmarket have shown that they have the talent to present a program on ice that is a credit to any community. Is there any reason, however, why the town must confine its efforts to the ice? Why can't church organizations and schools join in the presentation of a minstrel show? Why can't the facilities about town be combined into a year-round recreation program? Why can't the teaching resources of Newmarket be utilized in a community program of handicrafts and hobbies?

Newmarket has shown what it can do on ice. Let us begin to show what we can do in other fields of community endeavor as well.

RUMORS

Of all the by-products of war, rumor concerning the welfare of a loved one is the worst. There is no excuse for it. Yet such rumors are continually circulated with resultant, untold strain on war-weary minds of the next of kin.

Recently two rumors were current which caused considerable distress to the relatives of those the rumor concerned. One was, perhaps, the result of a natural mistake. But some thought to the truth of the rumor and the pain it would have caused if true, should have been sufficient to make those who heard it ascertain the facts before spreading it further.

The second rumor had all the evidence of wanton exaggeration for the sake of effect. It concerned a missing serviceman and in content, stated that a man answering the description of the missing soldier was in a prison camp hospital but was unable to remember his own name. Two families, unknown to each other, followed the rumor to its source in the belief that the man was their own boy. They found their hopes false after days of anxious enquiry.

The harm and pain caused by these rumors is incalculable. It is difficult to believe a son, a brother, a husband, is missing, that he is presumed dead. It is human to grasp at every straw of hope. For the parent, the sister, the wife to find in the end that it was only a rumor, is to damn the rumor-monger in the eyes of his fellows.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

On March 5, the Red Cross opens its annual drive for funds. The objective for Newmarket and district is $7,500. The national objective is $10,000,000. The campaign closes March 31.

There are few whose lives have not been touched in some way by the work of the Red Cross. Next of kin of men overseas rest easier, secure in the knowledge that wherever their son or daughter is they are being watched over and cared for by the Red Cross. Prisoners of war owe their lives to the watchfulness of Red Cross officials. Few letters come from prison camps that do not say that life is made bearable only by Red Cross parcels.

Nor is this work of mercy done only abroad. The Red Cross stands ready to succor the victims of flood and fire and storm at home. The workers of the Red Cross are among the first on the scene of disaster, bringing food and medical care.

Blood donor clinics are administered by Red Cross branches. That work alone would be deserving of all support.

It is little enough that the Red Cross asks of us to support its catalogue of mercy. There are four weeks in which to give the response they seek of us. Let us resolve now to answer overwhelmingly.

VOCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

One phrase stands out in Capt. the Rev. T. W. F. G. Andrews' remarks to the Lions club Monday night on his work as education counsellor at Christie Street hospital. He emphasized that many of the boys who enlisted in the service had had no previous training or experience in business or trade, that, in other words, they must make a cold start when they re-enter civilian life.

Capt. Andrews restated a principal argument in favor of a vocational department for Newmarket high school. He spoke with the authority of practical experience.

Many of the veterans of this war will want to start in civilian life as soon as possible. They will neither have the time nor the inclination to take the longer educational courses that are available. If they are without practical experience in business or trade, they must take whatever job is open for them. A vocational department at the high school, however, would enable them to study at night. Through these extra studies, they could make up lost time.

It is not the intention of the planners of a vocational department for Newmarket high school to offer complete courses. They do intend to offer courses that will be sufficiently full to enable the student to learn the fundamentals of the trade he is studying. He will learn enough to start in that trade. Then, if he desires to continue, he has knowledge and experience of practical worth.

IT HAPPENS ONCE A YEAR

There are crises in every household but none so trying as income tax time. It is the despair of husband and wife and a severe test of matrimonial harmony.

The trouble usually has its beginning over that collection of bills, receipts, and miscellaneous literature that rests in the bottom drawer. With her instinct for getting things done, the wife digs into the collection, normally ignored by her husband, with the intention of sorting out the papers that will be needed for the tax return. But the husband, far from appreciating the gesture, is outraged that his papers should be thrown about so callously. She calls it getting the household affairs in order. He considers it a darned nuisance and with a great show of indignation, starts to re-sort the papers preparatory to putting them back in the drawer.

It's not long, however, before he is chuckling over the license he bought for his first dog and retelling for the nth time the virtues, antecedents and hunting ability of the long deceased mongrel. This is a considerable strain on his wife. Then he finds a copy of the only examination that he had a good mark for, and this invokes a further recital of what a scholar he was in his youth. An adolescent love letter, a few lines of youthful poetry, and the receipt for his first pair of long pants all come in for lengthy exposition. Eventually the strain tells on his wife and she comments, most unkindly in his opinion. There is noticeable coolness between them until the matter is forgotten and the papers back in the drawer. Then it starts all over again, the night before the return is due.

In Passing

Required reading for the month are the income tax forms that the government has issued and which are available at the post office. We anticipate several minor accidents as the wage earners attempt to walk on wintry streets and read their tax forms at the same time as some were doing Wednesday noon.

Perhaps Newmarket may be able to get some "crocodiles," the amphibious vehicle used by Canadians in Holland. They would be of great value in negotiating watery streets.

No one who was present at Tom Kirk Night at the Newmarket Memorial Arena would have cause to fear for the future of hockey. The youngsters in the public school finals played heads up hockey and played as good hockey as their older brothers. Vice-Principal Fred L. Hall deserves a great deal of credit for the showing his teams made.

LET'S DO SOMETHING!

By Rudy Renzius Kids' night at the arena was a grand success. It was swell to see so many parents turn out to cheer their hopefuls. We have a grand bunch of kids in town and they certainly had their day Friday night.

In buying the arena we started something in the way of recreation. The only regret is that we were too timid and didn't go far enough. We have looked after the kids who play hockey. We have given those that liked skating an odd hour of free skating and we have made sure the town isn't losing any money on the rink. But what about the brainy fellow who doesn't care for hockey or the girl who is too shy or maybe can't see any sense in aimlessly going around and around the rink to the tune of the Merry Widow? How about the child, physically handicapped, or the one who can't pay the price of admission. Frankly we didn't do anything for them.

Parents, let us get together and fix up a place where all kids, no matter what their spare time activities may be, will have a chance to express themselves. Recreation doesn't only mean hockey sticks and skates. See what a success the soldiers' club is.

We have shown ourselves that a project like the arena is a possibility. Let's branch out a bit. Let's get a place to swim. A swimming pool might be built for $5,000, at a daily upkeep of $2. Let's get a place for basketball and soccer maybe with bleachers. Let's turn the town hall into a community centre with hobby rooms for crafts and equipment for hobbies. Let's build a canopy outside for the market (such as it is) in the square. Let's get some indoor games and let's get a man to get all this organized. Let's give the kids—our kids—every chance in the world to grow into the best possible citizens. We can't lose.

Let's do something! Editor's note: Mr. Renzius had written the above article before the Ice Follies had been presented. The success of the Follies lends additional weight to his statements.

TO THE EDITOR

The Editor, The Newmarket Era and Express: In regard to the market problem, I am looking at it from three different points of view, that of seller, and of buyer, and that of public health nurse. It seems to me that the members of the Board of Health have been very remiss in not taking the market over under their direct supervision long before this. The war is no excuse. I was at the market last winter, as a buyer, for the first time in 40 years, and the same unsanitary conditions prevail that were there at that time.

A porter should be employed by the town to keep the place clean. The windows should be washed twice a month, the walls dusted or washed at least once a month, and the floor covered with fresh saw-dust for each market day. The old boards used for display, should be planed and painted with white enamel and two shelves placed underneath. Last winter, I noticed a pile of freshly plucked chickens lying on the dirty floor. It was disgusting.

Rural women are taking a keen interest in sanitation and the careful handling of food and their interest is sustained through magazine articles and the Women's Institute. It is a very ignorant farmer's wife today who will permit the dog to drink out of the milk pails while she separates the cream in the kitchen, and later, washing the dishes and the separator with dirty rags. Another suggestion, of assistance to the townspeople and to the farmers as well, is to have the display counters spaced off with lines and numbered, and the spaces given the farmers free as the applications come in. A directory should be posted with names and numbers. It would save considerable time to be able to find favorite produce always in that particular space. And it is to be hoped that before long the market will be open all day.

The Editor, The Newmarket Era and Express: Please find enclosed money order to renew my subscription to The Newmarket Era and Express. I receive the paper every Saturday and sure like to read it and know what is doing in the old home town. It helps one to remember some of the things that we had our hand in when we were kids—also the good arguments in the earlier shop when we were older. Here in Detroit everything is much the same now. We are still working hard. Tom many thought last fall that the war would soon be over, but we all got that out of our minds around Christmas time and have settled down to help do a job of winning the war—also winning the peace after the war. Hoping this year will see the end of all wars, I remain, Yours truly, Oscar Lundy.

THE COMMON ROUND By Isabel Inglis Colville

ABOUT VARIOUS THINGS

There are so many things these days to think of that women never thought of before or if we thought of them it was in an abstract sort of way and we left the concrete part to the male portion of the family.

Now every women's organization is interested in relief work, hospitalization, education and politics.

Yesterday the west branch of the Pine Orchard Women's Institute met at Ingleside and one matter up for discussion was the Blue Cross hospitalization plan which is being taken up by many Institutes.

For a very modest sum per month it provides board and hospital care—not medical—for those who care to take advantage of it.

It was discussed very thoroughly in relation to individuals and to families of the Institute and from the two branches of Pine Orchard Institute the quota of members necessary to participate in the plan was secured.

The need for hospital care comes into the lives of a great number of people and sometimes the expense entailed depletes sadly the family budget and makes people hesitate, often with sad results, to incur the expense.

This plan and others like it, although not perfect, are at least a good stride in the right direction for the father and mother and children under sixteen in a family benefit under the small monthly payment.

This payment entitles one to the public ward, but a small, extra sum gives one semi-private or private room care.

Perhaps my description of the plan is somewhat indefinite, something like the costume of a bride, which was described to me by Stuart Starr the other day. He told me he thought the gown was satin "because the confetti didn't stick to it," and when I asked if the young lady wore a veil he said she had something hanging from her head down her back but he always thought veils went over people's faces. However, he thought the general effect good and I thought the description decidedly original.

As this article is a little of everything, I must tell you that a friend, who viewed my chocolate colored squirrel with the orange tail, informed me that it—the animal, not the tail—was part ground hog and part squirrel. It's certainly an oddity but seems to be friends with birds and squirrels alike. We've added another nuthatch and several more tree sparrows to our flock and they seem like a happy family, I suppose because there is food for all.

At our meeting yesterday quite a few finished new articles and some used clothing were ready for the Red Shield. The need for clothing has not grown less with the passing war years. Indeed what one reads of civilians in Britain makes it only too evident that their clothing is so patched that the original pattern is almost lost.

One lady with ideas was making her damask curtains into dresses and another dyeing her linen tablecloths and doing likewise. But curtains and tablecloths will not last forever and most of them have seen long and honorable service in their original state and again lots of people in dire need of clothing never possessed either damask or linen. We people may complain about the shortages of this and that—for instance my tablecloth is slowly but surely wearing away—but we have so much.

TO THE EDITOR
The Editor, The Newmarket Era and Express:
An open letter to the mayor of Newmarket:
Some weeks ago I read an article in the local paper on the great work of the road commissioner in clearing the snow but on Wednesday night, Feb. 21, due to rain and a freezing temperature the roads and sidewalks were treacherous to say the least. There were some 200 people at a bingo in the town hall. Was anything done to make the road safe for travel? Women were seen to cross the road on hands and knees.
Some time ago there was a big spell about helping the boys and girls who are coming back but I have been led to believe the local veterans were refused the use of the council chambers for their monthly meetings.
I for one attended the meeting on Thursday night, Feb. 22, in the town hall and the tables on which we had to sit were filthy. If this is the attitude of the council for the safety and comfort of the citizens of this town, it leaves a lot to be desired.
Yours truly, B. Ward.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT Magistrate Dismisses Careless Driving Charge

The only case heard on Tuesday in magistrate's court was that of John P. Mohan, 26 Ave. Rd., Toronto, who was charged with careless driving. The defendant pleaded not guilty. After listening to the evidence Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe decided that the case was one for the civil court rather than the criminal court and dismissed the charge.

County Constable William Hill, Sutton, told his worship that Mr. Mohan had come to his home at 10 p.m. on Jan. 27 and told him that while driving along Dalton Rd. near Sutton he had sideswiped a parked car. The officer said that upon investigation he found the car parked on the east side of the road close to the edge. The left rear fender and running board were damaged. He stated that the road was 20 feet wide and on the evening in question was in an icy condition.

"Did the accused give any reason why the accident occurred?" inquired Magistrate Woodliffe.

"He said that as he was driving along the road he met a truck," replied the witness. "He said that he did not notice the parked car until it was too late to put on the brakes."

Mr. Mohan stated that it was dark and the road was slippery and his car skidded when he applied the brakes. He did not see the parked car until it was too late.

Murray M. Fisher of Gravenhurst was found guilty of exceeding the speed limit on Yonge St. and fined $15 and costs. The case was settled before court. Provincial Constable Wm. A. Melbourne laid the information. The case of Russell Atkinson, Schomberg, charged with careless driving, was adjourned for two weeks.

QUEEN'S PARK NEWS

By Geo. H. Mitchell, M.P.P. For York North

The legislature is rather slowly getting down to business. Only a handful of government bills have been presented and only two days so far have been given to debate on the speech from the throne. Meeting at three in the afternoon, we have not once sat till our regular hour of six o'clock. Since the government has not much legislation ready, I understand that the opposition will bring some of its own in during the next day or two. Though short, our sittings have had a lot more fireworks than last year. Opposition Leader Jolliffe started one heated debate on the coal shortage. He pointed out that the Conservatives in 1943 had promised, as one of their 22 points, that adequate supplies of fuel would be assured by effective organization and control. This had not been done. He suggested that deliveries to non-essential users might have been restricted till homes and essential plants had been supplied and that the fuel committee of the legislature might have been asked to investigate the shortage.

Premier Drew replied that fuel was controlled by the dominion government as long as the war lasted and the province had no authority to act.

Howard Brown (Welland), Grieve Robinson (Waterloo South) and Mitch Hepburn (Elgin) pointed out that the same condition had existed when Mr. Drew made his promise in 1943.

There has also been vigorous discussion of the government's policy toward family allowances. Mr. Drew had been asked two or three times whether he still stands by his challenge of last August that the provincial government would do everything within its power to keep family allowances from coming into force. He has promised to answer that question when he takes part in the Throne speech debate some time next week.

Opposition Leader Jolliffe opened the debate for the Opposition on Thursday. Pointing out the tremendous advances made by all the United Nations armies in the past year, till victory is now near, he urged that after victory the hopes of the common people must be recognized better than they were after the last war. The Ontario government will have a great responsibility toward the people of the province and they want to know what its policies will be.

The C.C.F. leader criticized the government for claiming that it has carried out all the promises made in the 22 points. It may claim to have done something on each point, he said, some trivial things and some important things. But that is not enough. The undertakings given must be carried out as they were made.

The government promised to co-operate with the dominion in establishing a sound basis for social security and in other measures. Certainly there had been no co-operation on family allowances, Mr. Jolliffe said. It had promised to encourage "private initiative", but it had produced no plans to keep full employment after the war. It had promised an agricultural commission of enquiry and had appointed the commission but had done nothing to carry out its recommendations. It had promised the fairest and most advanced labor laws. Where were they?

It had promised to appoint a man with practical mining experience as minister of mines and had not done so. It had promised a forest resources commission and had been authorized by the legislature to appoint one a year ago but had not done so.

The most important government bill brought in this week has been the Election Act, 1945. This is separate from the Active Service Election Act and provides some changes in the regulations for ordinary voting. Some of the important changes include provision for payment of official scrutineers, the right granted to the Opposition to appoint some of the enumerators and provision for the province to pay the cost of publishing all official notices, such as the advertisement of each candidate's election expenses.

As stated by myself in the House, there has already been too much time spent in wisecracking and generalities and we should concentrate such practices and get down to brass tacks on constructive legislation.

In Memoriam

Hirst—In loving memory of Agnes M. Hirst, beloved wife of Walter A. Hirst, who passed away March 2, 1942.

Three years have passed and gone. Since one I loved so well. Was taken from her home on earth. With Jesus Christ to dwell.

I miss the things we used to have. The things we used to do. But God was short one more hand. That's why. He called on you. We'll meet again.

Sadly missed by husband, Walt.

McBride—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, James A. McBride, who passed away March 1, 1942.

Within our hearts he liveth still. Ever remembered by his wife and family.

Sheppard—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Arthur Sheppard, who passed away suddenly and peacefully on March 5, 1944.

God called him home, it was His will. But in our heart we love him still. His memory is as dear today. As in the hour he passed away.

The blow was great, the shock severe. We little thought the end was near. It is only those who have lost can tell. The sorrow of parting without farewell.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by wife, Fliley, son, Melvin, and daughter, Hettie.

A son, Peter, aged eight, is yet to be heard from.

George Mesley, 16-year-old son of Capt. Frank Mesley, King, and a student at Aurora high school, suffered a severely gashed foot last week when the axe with which he was cutting wood slipped from his grasp. He is at York County hospital, Newmarket.

Aurora Firefighters, Soldiers Come Home From Action Abroad

Aurora and district men continue to return to home and families from the fighting fronts after years of absence and are being warmly welcomed by their friends and relatives.

Two Aurora boys, brothers-in-law, and both in the same service, Thomas Rank and Edward Dailey, are back home. Mr. Rank, who has taken on some poundage, arrived home early last week with the Civilian Fire Fighters from Canada, and has already received his discharge.

Mr. Dailey spent the weekend in town but returned to Ottawa previous to securing his release.

Both went overseas in 1942. Before enlisting Tom was employed by the T. Sisman Shoe Co. and Ed had his own barber-shop here. They served as fire-fighters during the blitz and robot periods of the past years, and saw considerable action in their own field. Both men saw quite a few of their comrades lost through enemy action.

Maj. W. S. Dinick, Oak Ridges, son-in-law of Gordon Taylor, went overseas as a lieutenant in 1941, saw action in Italy, and arrived home unscathed on Friday.

Bdr. Gardner Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lloyd, arrived home on Friday. Bdr. Lloyd has been overseas nearly four years. He enlisted with Queen's Own Rifles, but because of his low medical category was transferred to the personnel selection branch, which was mostly at No. 2 C.A.C.R.U. at Aldershot.

Tpr. Eddie Graham of Aurora was stationed at the same base, and during his stay in England Gardner met quite a few Aurora boys. He especially recalls the hospitality shown by the people in Scotland. The trip home was rough, but Aurora "looked good" and the changes he noted were not many. A brother, Gr. Howard Lloyd, serves in Italy.

Two wounded Aurora boys, Tpr. Lloyd Watson, son of Mrs. John Watson, George St., and Pte. Russell Terry, son of Mrs. Cora Terry, Wellington St., have also arrived home. Tpr. Watson enlisted in the Canadian Armored Corps in 1942, trained at Peterborough and Camp Borden, and went overseas in 1943. He was posted to Italy as a reinforcement to an Ontario tank regiment, with whom he served for nearly a year. He was wounded twice in July, returning to action after a slight rest on each occasion. In August he received an abdominal wound which necessitated removal to base hospital and his return to

The Chips are on the line now with the elimination of Toronto from the service league play-offs, leaving the way clear for what should be the greatest hockey series ever presented to Newmarket fans. All year Toronto navy have more or less had the Indian sign on the Newmarket team with the scoreboard results being away in their favor, but we have a hunch that R.S.M. Syd Bowman and his men will take the present series. For one thing, the navy players are performing about four nights a week and are beginning to look a bit weary. So far too, they have escaped the injury jinx and it will be a miracle if they get through the season without losing some of their aces.

Newmarket has lost Wheeler, Nesbitt, Life, Callanan and others at various times through accident and sickness but they should be all in good shape for the pay-off games. It is better to have your bad luck early in the year, and get it over with.

As an example of just how hard it is to predict results, consider the fact that all year Newmarket has handled Toronto army with comparative ease, except for that last game, whereas the navy have only been able to edge out the Toronto team in most games.

Last week at Barrie, Newmarket gained revenge over Camp Borden Infantry by handing them a 7-5 loss to even the series and the score doesn't indicate their superiority throughout the game. Now Infantry has been able to take Armored Corps over the season, whereas the black beret boys have a 5-1 decision over navy. (It doesn't seem to add up. If you intend to wager on the result our advice is to go for the Caswell clan.)

Navy is just about the most popular outside team ever to play in Newmarket and has a surprisingly large following from the fans who have flocked to the games all season. Most popular player on the team seems to be goater Lefty Wilson. "The voice" is an inspiration to his teammates and does more to pep up the team than any other player, besides playing a whale of a game in the nets. It should be a super-dooper, de luxe "serious" and the S.R.O. sign should be hung out every game.

Wes Perry, former Aurora softball hurler and veteran Barrie chucker, is managing the Allendale-Barrie bantam team entered in the O.M.H.A. series and it would seem likely that the Barrie kids will meet the fast travelling Newmarket peewees before the season gets much older. Ab Bowman, centre star of the Barrie Colts and ticketed for Boston Bruins, is coaching the Barrie lads and with a bigger population to choose from than Newmarket, they have a pretty nice little team.

Jack Christie, secretary of the O.M.H.A., has been in attendance at some of the district O.M.H.A. playdown games and has been beating the drums for a district group next winter. Del Babcock, maestro of the Aurora teams, has announced that next winter Aurora will definitely be in the O.M.H.A. series with perhaps three teams, and we know Leonard Simmons, Bill Holloway and the Lions club officials will back that one to the limit. With Newmarket, Bradford, Sutton, Bolton and St. Andrew's College already in line and Markham, Unionville, Richmond Hill and Pickering College practically certain, some great prospects for district hockey are in sight. It would be a good idea for all the interested teams to get together now, talk over the situation and iron out the problems that will have to be faced. The big questions will be playing equipment, gasoline and tires and that will depend on the war, but it would be wise to pool all the brain power available and get a clear picture now rather than wait for next season.

Gordon Taylor of Bond Lake, well known district sportsman and father of that great golfer, Gordon Taylor, Jr., and prominent member of the Summit club, has been elected a director of the Ontario Golf association.

Detroit players recently picked two all-star hockey teams from the ranks of their opponents and it is interesting to note that the Aurora-educated, Newmarket-born Dik Clapper, oldest playing player in the N.H.L., was selected for honorable mention at defence post and his teammate, Herb Cain, the pride of Newmarket, was picked as the third best left winger. The Hlake, Canadians, and Nick Metz, Toronto, were picked ahead of Herbie. The Detroit team, of course, has some players of their own who would rank away up when any all-star selections are being made.

Lloyd Finkbeiner, who played for Midland against Sutton in the intermediate playdowns a few years ago and briefly played for Toronto army this winter against No. 23, has been discharged from the Canadian army and is now performing for Montreal Royals in the Quebec senior series. It will be recalled that Finkbeiner was briefly stationed at Newmarket camp last fall and played for No. 23 in the series against Brampton camp.

Elk Hunt, G. F. H. Apps of Canington, who played junior hockey in the local group in 1940 with Beaverton Juniors, was killed last week in a plane crash in Nova Scotia. Apps was a promising hockey player and his name was a drawing card at the gate although no relation to the great Sylvanus Apps.

That entire Beaverton line-up of Knack, Devine, Venie, Apps, Gale, Bill Dunn, McCrea, Morrison, G. Dane, Snodden and Currie are in the present conflict, with Devine already having paid the supreme sacrifice as well as Apps. The folks up Beaverton way can be mighty proud of them all. Eight of 13 Newmarket juniors of the same vintage are on service too, the entire Sutton team of that year and the entire Richmond Hill team but one answered the call to the colors. We doubt if a better record can be shown by any other hockey group in Ontario or elsewhere.

Jimmy Coffell, former Milton junior forward, has been discharged from the army after three years' service and is playing hockey for Georgetown intermediates as well as the West Toronto mercantile league. Coffell was in the army the year Milton won the O.H.A. title. Joe Schertel, ace junior defence man of the Milton team for several years and one of the best ever to play in the local group, is also playing on the same teams as Coffell.

Army boxing at No. 23 over the weekend was a most popular event and the bouts produced were as good as you will see anywhere today. They were, of course, fought under I.S.B.A. rules (Imperial Services Boxing Association), which differ greatly from the ordinary Marquis of Queensbury rules, with which civilians are familiar. The idea behind army boxing is to see even competition and that no one is hurt. While doubtless, some of the rules are a little antiquated and are hard to understand in the main, they have served their purpose well.

The teaching of a sense of fair play is one of the essentials of army boxing, while in the civilian fights, despite the rules, much that is questionable is allowed to pass to please the paying public, since the gates do not tolerate the army, the sport is the thing. The prohibition against cheering between rounds is one of the hardest rules to enforce in army boxing. It is in vogue, because the referee is outside the ring under I.S.B.A. rules, and if cheering is allowed the fighters cannot hear instructions. Again, often the roar of the crowd does much to eliminate the basic instinct of sportsmanship being encouraged and bring out the "killer" instinct.

The referee is outside of the ring because in that way he can see everything that goes on. Frequently, after a referee has passed between two fighters in a clinch, a swift blow can be delivered. This can't happen with the referee outside the squared circle. Again, with the officials placed as they are, all sides of the ring are covered from outside view and there are only the fighters to follow in the ring.

A winner must be declared since there is no such thing as a draw in boxing and the point system of judging based on a five-point round total allows quick, easy decisions by the judges. A boxer is judged on (Page 7, Col. 3) a five-point basis each round. For instance, A has a slight edge over points indicating B is only four-fifths as good as A in that particular round. This is carried out throughout the three rounds and the points totalled. The referee has no vote with three judges.

Incidentally, boxing is often referred to as pugilism. The latter word is from the Latin word "pugil", meaning fighting with fists. Pugilism has of course existed since the days of prehistoric man, being the natural, primitive form of battle. Pugilism existed as contests as early as 5000 years ago according to Sumerian slabs found in Mesopotamia. There appears to have been a lapse of such contests until the days of Thesus of Greece, around 900 B.C., who made pugilism into a brutal gladiatorial contest.

St. Bernardine, a priest of the 13th century, has been credited with being the father of boxing. Boxing is scientific pugilism and the name means "boxing up" the attack of an opponent. St. Bernardine, as a priest of Siena in Italy, persuaded the bloods of his parish to settle their disputes with fists in place of steel and he arranged a sort of code (duelling had one too), becoming a teacher of boxing, matchmaker and referee. The idea caught on with youth of the day. Reports indicate he always halted the contests before any real damage was done.

The rules and all the rest appear to have died with him for we still hear of pugilism, brutal, bare-knuckle battles, for several hundreds of years later. In 1743, one Jack Broughton, a great fighter of his day, created the London Prize Ring rules to "lessen the brutality of pugilism". Broughton is buried, strangely enough, in Westminster Abbey. As early as 1818 gloves were used but it was the Marquis of Queensbury and Arthur Chambers, an English lightweight, who provided for the use of gloves and codified the rules of boxing in 1865. Army boxing rules developed from these and were formulated at Aldershot camp in England. Both sets of rules have admirably served the purpose for which they were intended.

Ballastrine passed out of the Aurora mercantile league last week in a sudden-death play-off, after leading the league all season. It was a case of overwork for most of the boys who are playing for Bringham (South Ontario), and in the Stouffville league. Some were performing as many as four nights a week, which, coupled with driving and work, makes for a tough schedule. All this shows up, especially when the ice gets heavier as is the case these days. On paper, Ballastrine had the better line-up but Vondorf won and they might just repeat the story against the favored Zephyr team too, especially if they play with the same determined will-to-win style of play they had the other night.

Three things have contributed to the change in the Whitechurch-Aurora clan. First, Charlie Case was secured as a military replacement in goal for "Ginger" Pugh. Charlie is a steady, if not flashy, custodian and has confidence and good team spirit. Next, Whitley Jones joined the team and in faster company is playing better hockey than he ever did in junior. Jones can play smart hockey if he will take the game to heart and in the present company he seems right at home and is giving out with the old omph. The third big factor is the coaching of Bill Patrick, former trainer for Aurora juniors when they were in their palmy days. Bill knows all the answers and this is the first real chance he has had to put them into operation. His sense of judgment has been good and he has instilled plenty of fight in his charges.

Never a standout player, Harry Sutton in recent games has come into his own and is playing solid hockey, as good as any in the league. Wink Barnard, hesitated fast of Aurora juniors of '35-'36, has finally rounded into shape too and is picking the corners of the net with regularity. Teamed with Ross Pollock and Leon Shupshiro, two veteran performers, although not so old in years, Patrick has one grade A forward line to toss over the boards.

The Nigh brothers, Harry Ende and Bruce Gregg are improving too, and of course that old reliable Harold Botham is as steady as ever. Mutt Collins, once the toast of Aurora town, has been given the green light as a military replacement for Zephyr Blues and signaled his first start with Zephyr by getting a well-kept goal. The Bradford boy is still plenty good, especially for this company and Ivan Law and company made a ten-strike in securing his services.

Zephyr, having played together for several years, has an edge in team play and of course Bob Peters, who is the standout goalie of the circuit, doesn't weaken the northerners. In fact, from conversation, any wagers being placed on Zephyr are being the fans figure Peters gives the Blues the edge. All that is needed to attract a big house is good ice and with the final down to a goals-to-count series they should finish in good time. The competition will be hot, for there is great rivalry extending from last year between the two clubs and the fans, including, believe it or not, the ladies, have tangled on more than one occasion. The game is taking the games a bit serious with resultant hair-pulling as they debate the merits of their male heroes.

Barrie fans have seen some great hockey in recent years and after seeing the Newmarket-Infantry game here is what Ken Walls, the Barrie sports expert, says: "The question as to whether Newmarket has the better service team in the country today remains unanswered. At least three Camp Borden clubs in addition to Infantry feel they can take No. 23 basic training centre but there was no doubt in the minds of all that Newmarket has a real smart team. Facing the Newmarket club was Bep Guldolin, left winger from Boston Bruins. No better player has skated on Barrie arena this season or for some time previous. Guldolin, still of junior age, has a great build for a hockeyist and made every move count. Without wasting any motion he opened up his speed when he had to. He got four of the goals and assisted in two others. Billy Taylor, the Toronto Maple Leaf star, was right on hand and looked every bit N.H.L. timber. He scored one and assisted in another counter but was somewhat overshadowed by Guldolin and Joint McComb, who was one of the smartest attackers on the ice. The Newmarket boy hasn't been in pro ranks but he is definitely in that class."

Mr. Walls has made a fine analysis of the game and we agree with his impressions, especially so in the case of McComb. It has always been a mystery how he kept out of pro ranks all these years, for he has had the goods since junior days. Some say a bad temper, others difference. We do know he turned down one minor league contract, would have been signed by Detroit before he joined up in 1943 but they moved too late and as late as last summer he was being sought by Boston Bruins. Barring injuries, there should be no stopping McComb from making good in the N.H.L. once the war is over.

When he has to, Joint can control his temper well but don't forget, probably no player on the ice, game after game, takes a bigger ride from the opposition.

Had a letter from Ace Yake, from a bed in No. 2 Canadian General Hospital in Europe. The old southpaw says: "Hope you are still covering the sports field for the fans at home and abroad. I use the latter term for if we don't read here so you get bits of it over here so you see Down The Centre does cover a lot of ground. We are all hoping the war will be over soon and the boys can get back home. Home will seem strange after so long away and with so many of our pals from boyhood gone."

"See by our army papers that Turk Broda, Polly Drouin, Red Hamill and other of the big hockey stars have time to play hockey in England. Have met Morley Barnard, Jim Farley and Lloyd Watson over here. Hope to be back on my feet punching soon. Give my best to the gang."

Earl Robertson, ex-goalie of Brooklyn Americans, is playing goal this winter for Trenton R.C.A.F. centre in the Quinte services league. Stan Evans is averaging 105 in the 13X bowling league at Barrie and the Newmarket boy is fast moving up to the 200 class. He got off to a bad start on the alleys but is really knocking down the pins now. Jerry Shears, who appeared in the M.D. 2 bouts at Newmarket, is the same fighter who has been attracting so much attention in the Massey Hall shows in Toronto. He is a former Quebec titleholder.

Racing has got the nod from the Department of Agriculture under whose aegis it rests, strangely enough. While means that come the middle of May the moon will be laid on the line as usual and with the cut that goes to the government, it will be more than welcomed as a means to an end by Mr. Hsley. There has been little absenteeism from war plants in Canada because of racing as was the case in the U.S.A. In any case the king of sports goes on as usual. This year no American horses will be allowed to compete, which helps the Canadian owners a bit. American horses have never invaded Ontario tracks to any great extent but the Quebec circuits have pretty well depended on Yankee nags for action. It seems good to think things will go on as usual.

Special Hockey Service Will Be Held Sunday

Next Sunday evening there will be a hockey club service at the United church. Each year in Sutton at one or other of the churches, such a service is held for the boys who play on the Sunday-school teams, their parents and friends and the interested public. The service this year was in Sutton United church. Some of the boys of the Keswick team were able to attend and, in appreciation, officials of the Sunday-school hockey league suggested that a similar service be held in Keswick. This is the second year that Keswick boys have rounded out the league with a fourth team.

The service, at 8 o'clock, will be attended by some Sutton boys and officials of the league. Keswick Boy Scouts forced a tie in the league play-off by winning from Sutton United boys, 5-4 on Feb. 23. Sutton led 3-0 halfway through the second period but Keswick rallied for two goals before the period ended. They added three in succession in the final period before Sutton boys got one back.

Keswick: goal, Bob Winch; defence, Bud Thompson, Norman George, Ted Peters, forwards, Albert Smith, Dan McGenerty, David Huntley, Ivan Rye, Bill Henry and Alan Walker.

The deciding game is scheduled for Thursday night, March 1. Carol Ann Elizabeth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Whittaker, was buried at Sutton on Tuesday following a service at the home.

Jack Gable is progressing favorably after an operation in a Toronto hospital. He was visited on Sunday by Mrs. Gable and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marritt.

Mrs. Munro King and son, Reagh, were guests of Mrs. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holborn, for a couple of days last week.

Mrs. Geo. White was soloist at the United church on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Rigler entertained a few friends last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Sam Pegg is spending a few days in Toronto visiting her sons, Messrs. Clide and Donald McGinnis, also her new granddaughter, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clide McGinnis.

Miss Marion Itey spent the weekend as a guest of her sister, Mrs. A. Pollock, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glover, Newmarket, were guests at Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wright's on Tuesday.

Word has been received of the death in St. Petersburg, Florida, of Mary Warriner, wife of David Warriner, formerly of Keswick, son of the late John Warriner.

Bill Burrell of the R.C.A.F. was a guest at Mr. Alvin Rye's on Friday. He is at home in Brampton after 32 operational flights overseas.

The Women's Missionary Society of the United church will meet on Thursday, March 8, in the Sunday-school room of the church. The regular meeting at 3 o'clock will be preceded by a quilting which begins in the morning. The quilters are asked to bring a box lunch.

One of the features of Tom Kirk Night is a free ticket entitling each pupil to a treat at the tuck shop and before the night is half over the boys and girls in a steady stream begin to use their tickets to buy hot dogs, chocolate bars and pop.

And now the barrels and race signs are being rolled out for the races. The first race was for boys under seven. When the race was called, out swarmed a bunch of wobbly, hopeful, little boys, all anxious to do their best. Off they went with a rush. A few skated close to the boards, a few dived around the barrels and one forgot to turn and went bang into the boards. At the end of the race the winners were given vouchers entitling them to goods of different values in the Newmarket stores.

The other contestants were given a chocolate bar each. (Wasn't that chocolate bar good?)

Then came the race for the little girls under seven. In this manner one by one the races were run off up to the 14 and over. It was interesting to notice the gradual improvement in skill and speed from the beginners to the last age group.

Next the relays were run off, which the Alexander Muir school won both boys' and girls' cups. Now comes the race of the evening for the ten best boy skaters and was won by Laurie Thomas in an exciting race.

Now everyone was glad to get out on the ice for some free skating and when God Save The King sounded everyone was ready for home at the end of a very enjoyable and interesting evening.

By Mary Ellen MacInnis, Grade 8, Alexander Muir School

On Friday night, Kids' Night was held in the Newmarket Memorial arena with a large attendance. After "The King" was played, one minute's silence was observed in memory of Sgt. Tom Kirk of the Newmarket police force who was the originator of Kids' Night, which is an annual affair.

From the beginning of the hockey game the Gliders had an edge on the Mosquitoes, ending with a score Gliders 9, Mosquitoes 5. This year the team were divided into two lines, a first line and a kid line. In this way the lines must change together and we don't have a strong line playing a weak one. Two minutes and eight seconds after the puck was faced off, Thoms, unassisted, completely fooled Hillaby, the Mosquitoes' goalie, and drilled the puck into the far corner of the net. One minute later Gibson, from Bunn, countered back and tied the score.

Burke of the Gliders, on the kid line, shows the makings of a fine hockey player. He is a good stick-handler and skater but is a little small. The Gliders' scorers were Thoms, three, Rose, three, Burke, two, and Duncan, one. All players on the Mosquitoes' team played a hard game and when Firth switched from defence to wing the team was greatly improved. The scorers for the Mosquitoes were Firth, four, Gibson, one.

The Gliders are given a trip to Maple Leaf Gardens and the losing players are given one dollar each. Only one penalty was handed out by the referee, Mr. Hall, to McCarman for slashing, otherwise the boys played a clean and exciting game.

Mosquitoes' line-up: B. Hillaby, H. Legge, G. Firth, D. Gibson, D. Bunn, D. Martin, D. Nelson, Bill Armstrong, A. Martin, J. Fines, H. Peterman, E. West, C. Druey.

Glider's line-up: B. Stickleland, D. Blake, J. Cain, L. Thoms, B. Rose, D. Duncan, T. Taylor, J. Hodgins, K. Burke, W. Cain, S. Brown, J. McCarman, N. Lightheart, T. Authurs.

After the game the following races took place: girls and boys under seven to girls and boys 11 years and over inclusive. Two relays were run off, the senior boys and girls, both won by the Alexander Muir school. A special race limited to the ten best skaters, 13 years and over, who were to skate around the rink four times, held the attention of the audience more than the others. Donald Gibson led the group all the way but when he was three yards from the finishing line he tripped and fell and Laurie Thoms passed him to finish first. Some, it seemed, did not know where to skate, for a great many of them skated inside the barrels. There were a great many tumbles but everyone seemed satisfied when he received a chocolate bar.

On the chocolate bar that he couldn't turn the corner and coasted into the end boards before he could stop.

Vouchers, which can be cashed with the merchants and having values from 25 cents to $1 were given as prizes. St. John's school won the cup for the highest percentage of points. After the races we had a whole lot to eat and a very enjoyable evening.

ing to the audience to watch the tiny tots. The Alexander Muir school deserves great credit as it won both cups for the relay races.

The last race was a boys' race, four times around the rink. In this race there was keen competition as Laurie Thoms had to skate swiftly to beat Don Gibson. Don Gibson was in the lead until he fell near the finishing line and Thoms won out.

In school, each child was given a voucher which enabled him to obtain refreshments from the booths. These were very much appreciated because each child could get something of his own choice, free. Thanks is due to the folks who financed the refreshments. Hot dogs were never so well prepared nor drinks never tasted as good before.

There were many adults present and their response helped the children and gave them confidence. They cheered and clapped for the winners which spurred them on to greater efforts.

It was the custom every year to have general skating after the races to give the children a chance to have a good skate. This was the concluding highlight of the night. Had Tom Kirk been there he would have been more than repaid for his efforts had he seen the events of this memorable night.

After the general skating, God Save The King was played and everyone stood at attention. We all look forward to another children's night and we hope that it will be celebrated every year for a long time to come.
